Course Descriptions

State and Local Anti-Terrorism Training (SLATT) Program: Under this program, specialized multiagency terrorism detection, investigation, and interdiction training and related services are provided to state, local, tribal, and campus law enforcement and prosecution authorities. For more information, visit www.iir.com/slatt.

Investigative/Intelligence Workshop: A 2½-day course for law enforcement investigators, intelligence officers, and analytical personnel that includes topics inherent in the investigation and prosecution of terrorists and criminal extremists.

Advanced Investigative/Intelligence Workshop: A one- to two-day workshop that provides instruction concentrated on a specific topic related to the investigation and prosecution of terrorists and criminal extremists. Topics may include, but are not limited to, intelligence, investigative techniques, and countersurveillance.

Specialized Training Event: A workshop designed to provide an effective, flexible response to law enforcement training needs. Workshop length (four hours to two days) and topics are tailored to the specific needs of the requesting agency.

Tribal Lands Anti-Terrorism Briefing: A briefing that specifically addresses anti-terrorism training needs and issues critical to Indian country. Briefings are tailored to meet the needs of specific tribal areas and cover topics such as intelligence, indicators and warning signs, and legal issues.

Train-the-Trainer Workshop: A 1½-day course designed for qualified law enforcement trainers, intended to assist agencies in developing in-house anti-terrorism training capabilities by providing quality instruction and a take-home instructor guide to be used for further training.

Executive Briefing: A one-day briefing designed to provide chiefs, sheriffs, and other executive-level law enforcement officials with current information regarding the global terrorist threat. Information sharing and terrorist indicators are emphasized in this course. This briefing is conducted in conjunction with the local FBI office.

Anti-Terrorism Workshop for Campus Law Enforcement: A one- to two-day workshop designed to provide terrorism awareness training to campus law enforcement personnel. Course topics are tailored to the specific concerns of college and university campuses and include terrorism indicators, domestic and international terrorist/extremist groups, and officer safety issues.

Criminal Elements of the Sovereign Citizen Movement Workshop: This one-day workshop is designed to provide law enforcement officers with current information regarding the sovereign citizen movement. The basic beliefs of sovereign citizens, along with their historical antecedents, will be discussed. The threats that sovereign citizens present to law enforcement officers will be explored. Extensive coverage will be afforded to indicators that will enable law enforcement officers to better recognize sovereign citizens and determine the level of threat. Emphasis will be given to the problems that sovereign citizens present in court and other legal situations. The various financial frauds employed by sovereign citizens will also be discussed.

The Bureau of Justice Assistance has entered into an agreement with the Institute for Intergovernmental Research (IIR) to provide the above training. IIR is a nonprofit research and training organization specializing in law enforcement, juvenile justice, and criminal justice issues.
